The speaker called attention by telling figures to the reckiess extravagance of the Democratic government of Onio, particularly of the State Penitentiary. He concluded:

But the worst remains to be told, and I am giad I have the words of another in which to tell it. I invite the careful attention of every frishmen and every negro to the words I am about to reat—for at last, if never before, the Irishmen and the negroes of Ohio have a common grievance and a common interest that ought to make them stand shoulder to shoulder as one man.

He then read the deposition of F. W. Nye, of the barbarous practice in the hospital of the iOhio Penitentiary of using the skins of dead convicts and the andience listened to the statement that the cane surrendered with the statement of Nye was made of the stin taken from the body of Joseph McCoy, an Irishman, and John W. THE OHIO PENITENTIARY SCANDAL.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 24 (Special) -Further investigation of the Penitentiary abuses under a Democratic administration has been made to-day by the Grand Jury. The testimony increases the chances of several officials to wear convict clothes. Governor Hoadly's brother-in-law seems to be implicated in failing to account for money which he received for auta of clothes which he sold to outside persons. The chief of the subsistence department made a speculation by selling bread, butter and other staple supplies to calers in town at small prices, which was a clear gain to bim. These dealers are now in danger of prosecution for receiving stolen goods. From Cleveland comes the store to-day that a letter was sent there by one of the Democratic affinials offering for $400 to give a corthe Democratic religious offering for $400 to give a cortain convict light work. This was refused by the relatives and the official then wanted $100, which was also refused. Most of the Democrats deepest in the crimes have field. John Francis, who confesses to the individual testimony connects certain eminent Democrats with the crimes. Francis also tells how he had been promised his liberty for his forgety. He had been promised money enough for a year's support and free transportation to Windsor, Outario. It is thought indictments will be made next week.

THE PROHIBITION STATE COMMITTEE. WILLIAM J. GROO NOMINATED FOR JUDGE-NO

STATE CONVENTION. ALBANY, Sept. 24 (Special) .- The fifteen men who make up the Prohibition state Executive Commit-tee gathered here this morning in the rooms of the Young Men's Democratic Club. The committee determined two months ago not to hold a State Convention and this meeting was called to nominate a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appears. The sessions were secret. as the whole morning was devoted to hearing reports on the condition of the Prohibition canvass. Chairman Frederick F. Wheeler, Pronintion canvass. Who has attended all the Congressional district conventions announced that Congressional pandidates were now in the field in twenty-two out of thirty-four districts, and a nominee would be put up in yvery district. Only one nomination had been made jet in New York City, but a full Congressional ticket would be run there. He reported that the attendance at the Congressional conventions had been from five to times greater than there was delegated attendance ttion vote in this State would much exceed 30,000. At the afternoon session William T. Groo was nominated for Judge of the Court of Appeals. He was District Attorney of Sullivan County in 1856, State Commissioner of Public Accounts in 1862, and in 1869 was elected County Judge of Orange County. The committee then re-elected itself as the State Executive Committee for another year, and Frederick F. Wheeler was re-elected chairman. A resolution was adopted that it was the sense of the committee that full local tickets should be put in the field at all spring elections in the State next year. Chairman Wheeler declared that he did not fear the anti-salous Republicans. He wished them all succease in their effort to brins the Republican party over to prohibition, but he did not believe it could be done, and sincere Prohibitionists would be antisfied with nothing less, The committee resolved to print ballots in favor of a Constitutional Convention, and will labor to secure the passage of the convention proposition, in the hope that Prohibitionists may elect a majority of the convention and thus bring the prohibitory amendment directly before the people in 1888.

THE ATTACK UPON JUDGE RUGER. NOT A WORD OF TRUTH" IN A NEW-YORK TIMES

ARTICLE-THE JUDGE'S STATEMENT. SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 24 (Special).-The report published in The New Fork Times that Chief Judge Ruger, of the Court of Appeals, was pulling political wires in the interest of the candidacy of Eack Cowen, of Troy, for Judge Miller's place in the Court of Appeals, has caused much indignation here. Judge Euger, who lives in this city, was asked to-day to give a statement with reference to the charges. He said: "Se many articles of this kind have found their way into the mewspapers, and they have been, one and all, so unfair, so notruthful and so abusive, that they have carried with them their own refutation and seemed to call for nothing in the way of denial from me, but let me say that the dispatch to The Times is a tissue of misrepresentations, and that there isn't a word of truth in it from beginning to end. LIFS LINE ROCKET.-A test of the Cunningham life. line rocket for the wing lines to vessels in distress was made this afternoon at the Arressi range. No. 7 line, which is the largest used in the service, was carried with precision to a distance of 650 yards, and a lighter. No. 4 line to a distance of 1,050 yards. The greatest distance to which No. 4 line has ever been thrown by the Lyte gun now in use in the service is said to be 604 yards.

WAS IT A PRIVATE BURYING GROUND! The workmen engaged in digging for a foundation at Nos. 153 and 158 West Broadway found more bones yester-day, making eight skeletons in all that have been found. The bones have been found mostly in the deepest excavation, a long trench running across the lot, and speculation is now rife as to whether when the whole lot is levelled to the proper rife as to whether when the whole lot is levelled to the proper depth, enough bones will be found to establish the belief that the lot was once used by the old Lispenard family as a private burial ground. Another theory is that the canal boatmen of the days when Canalot was a canal dropped their victims there. The houses that were torn down there recently have stood for more than fifty years. The bones are not well preserved, and must have been buried tor fifty or sixty years. It is impossible to tell the sex of the skeletons. They were taken to the Morgue yeaterday, and will be buried to day in Potter's Field. The Health Leparatment and the Coroner did not think that the bones were worth an investigation. The ground is said to have been originally a part of the Lispenard farm, and joined the Church farm, which was granted by the Crown to Franty Church. There is no record at the Sanitary Bureau that the place was ever need as a public burial ground, and it was never so used by the St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church nearby. It is each that fifty years ago the two houses bore a good reputation.

DEAD FISH IN GENTRAL PARK.

It has been stated that the fish are dying in large numbers in Central Park lakes, polluting the waters as they come to the surface. Superintendent Parsons denied yesterday that there was any unusual mortality among the fish. The lakes, he said, are fairly drained, and the fish are not subjected to any more file than fall to their lot in the usual course of their

"Have many been found total recently?" asked the reporter.

"If you make a tour of the lakes, at any time," replied Mr. Parsons, "you will probably find some dead dishes; they have to die some time, you know, and the population of fishes in the lakes is extremely large. It is perhaps not generally known that the duty of some of the keepers is to make a tour of the lakes/every week. They remove the green scum that collects on portions of the lakes and all dead fishes. Possibly they have been delayed in their usual trip, and the number of the dead fishes has increased the death rate for the week and this condition has been seen by visitors and reported. But it is not intended to let our 'house-cleaning' appear in the parks any more than possible."

THE MAYOR LAUGHS AT THE SILVER STORY. Mayor Grace laughed yesterday when the story that Mrs. Grace was alleged to have smuggied eliverware into this port was told him. "I have never owned one hundred dollars worth of silverware in my life," he said. Mrs. Grace and I were in Europe twelve years ago. She has not been there since. The story is absurdly untrue, and I have written so to Collector Magone. I do not think it can apply to my brother, Michael P., for he has about the same taste as myself with reference to silverware.

COWLES GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

THE VERDICT PUTS THE CRIME IN THE PIRST DE-GREE-COL FELLOWS ON THE VALUE OF LIFE. Merchants, dry-goods clerks and other friends of the accused man made a large part of the audience that listened to the closing proceedings in the Cowles homicide case before Recorder Smyth yesterday. Assistant District-Attorney Follows spoke for two and a half hours in support of two propositions which he laid down. He contended that if the testimony for the prosecution was believed the offence committed by Cowies was murder in the second degree, while by the prisoner's ownstatement he was guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. He called attention to the fact that every person who witnessed the transactions immediately before the killing except the prisoner had been called as a witness by the prosecution and they all united in the statements which made out a case of murder in the second degree. He said in the closing part of his speech :

He said in the closing part of his speech:

Juries have been too ready to accept the declarations of prisoners where the charge was homicide, which they would not think of accepting from persons accused of lesser crimes. There is a romance about the person who comes into the court room under the accusation of having taken a human life which seems to attract in some mysterious way the mind of the inror; so it has come to pass, as I sometimes think, that the mesnest, cheapest thing in this world in the estimation of some jurors is human life. It is for you to decide whether that shall longer be felt by criminals in this city.

Colonel Pellowa read from the reports in the newspapers about the defalcation of G. M. Bartholomew, to show that good reputation was not evidence of innocence.

Recorder Smyth began his charge to the jurors early Recorder Smylli began his charge to the jurors early in the afternoon and gave careful definitions of homicales in the various degrees. He said that murder in the first degree was withirawn from the consideration of the jury by the presenting officer. The difference between murter and manufacture was that in the case of murder there must be a design to effect death, while that design is absent from manslaughter. Justifiable horeicide, which Cowles's lawyer set up as a defence, was defined by the Recorder. He said also:

It is not enough that a person should go upon the stand and say "I did it. It was in self-defence." It is for the jury to say whether under the circumstances he had reasonable ground for believing that his life was in danger or that he was in danger of great bodily harm.

The jury retired at a quarter before 4 o'clock and returned in an hour and a haif. The foreman, who spoke imperfect English, handed to Recorder Smyth a paper, in which the verifict was written. The foreman paper, in which the verifict was written. The foreman was, however, compelled to announce the verifict oraliv. He said: "Guilty of man-laughter in the first degree with a recommendation to mercy."

The prisoner, who looked at the jury extnestly all through the day's proceedings, showed no sign of emotion when the verifict was announced, but his eyes were residenced and he had evidently been weeping in the prisoners pen. He was resignated for entence. The penalty for manusianguer in the first degree is limited named for not less than five nor more than twenty years.

HOW JOHN BAIRD'S MONEY WAS TO BE USED. The investigation in regard to the sanity of John Baird was continued; saterday by calling to the witness stand O tayins D. Baidwin, president of the Fourth National Bank, who D. Baldwin, president of the Fourth National Bank, who testified that Mr. Barrd, on August 6, called at the bank where he had formerly had an account which had been closed. He asked the witness whether, if he opened a new account, he would be permitted to draw against it like other depositors. He was answered in the officiantive, and eponed a new account. This was just after an allowance of $10,000 had been made to Mr. Barr by the court pending the present proceedings. The witness thought Mr. Barrd was same.

MR. LAMAR EVADES AN INQUIRY.

From The Washington Post.

"What would you think, Secretary Lamar, of a newspaper reporter who would have the impudence to ask you whether you intended to get married soon!" a representative of The Post remarked to the Secretary.

"A good deal would depend upon what I knew of him," said Mr. Lamar. "I know it is a troublesome enough thing to pop the question, as a rule, and I fancy it would be awfully embarrassing to a gentleman to have it popped at me, and I fear I should be greatly puzzled to know how to answer. Now, supposing a newspaper reporter or any other person of equal andactly were to ope that question at me, what could relate that I was not. It would not appear to be a very gracious or graceful declaration. It might be regarded in the same light as that other ininvited declaration," I cannot marry you, my pretty makt. "Then again, it idd think I was going to be unrived, it would not appear to be any so, for you know "there is many a shy twint the enp and the lip." It is awfully hard for a fellow to have the question popped to him, even by a newspaper reporter."

FRIDAY, Sept. 24-P. M. The report of the Bureau of Statistics of the foreign commerce of the United States in the second month of the Government's fiscal year, although showing a large the Government's fixed year, although showing a large debit balance, reflects the greater activity in general traits. The value of the merchandise exported in August was $7,000,000 less than in August, 1884. The value of the merchandise imported in the month was $7,000,000 greater than in August, 1885, and $8,000,000 greater than in August, 1885, and $8,000,000 greater than in August, 1884. The imports of last month were $3,100,000 greater than in the preceding month of July, yet the amount remaining in bonded warehouses at the end of August was $4,000,000 smaller than at the end of July, while in August, 1885, with smaller imports as shown, the decrease of amount in warenouses was only $2,800,000. The bullion movement for the month mids $4,424,810 to the debit balance, making the net excess of imports over exports $11,949,069 for the month. Of the month's builton imports $4,966.855 was in gold and $1,468,379 in sliver; of the exports

$130,765 was in gold and $1,879,692 in sliver. The fol-
